Tourism, Travel, and Blogging Deepti Ruth Azariah 2016-11-10 Travel often inspires the creation of narratives about journeys and destinations, more so with the increasing availability of online platforms, applications for smartphones and tablets, and various other social media technologies. This book examines travel blogs and their associated social media as a form of self-presentation that negotiates the tensions between discourses of travel and tourism. As such, it addresses how contemporary travellers use online platforms to communicate their experiences of journeys and destinations, and how the traveller/tourist dichotomy finds expression in these narratives. Addressing the need for more in-depth analysis through a study of blogs, this exploration of networked narratives of an individual's travel experience considers personal motivations, self-promotion, and self-presentation as key factors in the creation of both personal and commercial travel blogs. As this text applies concepts such as self-presentation and heteroglossia, it will be of interest to both students and scholars of tourism, new media, sociology, cultural studies, and discourse studies.

In Pursuit of the Traveling Salesman William J. Cook 2011-12-27 What is the shortest possible route for a traveling salesman seeking to visit each city on a list exactly once and return to his city of origin? In this book, William Cook takes readers on a mathematical excursion, picking up the salesman's trail in the 1800s when Irish mathematician W. R. Hamilton first defined the problem, and venturing to the furthest limits of today's state-of-the-art attempts to solve it. After reading this book, the practitioner or student will be versed in the most basic part of the art of veterinary medicine: the safe handling of animals.

The Latin American Subaltern Studies Reader Ileana Rodriguez 2001-09-03 Sharing a postrevolutionary sympathy with the struggles of the poor, the contributors to this first comprehensive collection of writing on subalternity in Latin America work to actively link politics, culture, and literature. Emerging from a decade of work and debates generated by a collective known as the Latin American Studies Group, the volume privileges the category of the subaltern over that of class, as contributors focus on the possibilities of investigating history from below. In addition to an overview by Ranajit Guha, essay topics include nineteenth-century hygiene in Latin American countries, Rigoberta Menchú after the Nobel, commentaries on Haitian and Argentinian issues, the relationship between gender and race in Bolivia, and ungovernability and tragedy in Peru. Providing a radical critique of elite culture and of liberal, bourgeois, and modern epistemologies and projects, the essays included here prove that Latin American Subaltern Studies is much more than the mere translation of subaltern studies from South Asia to Latin America. Contributors. Marcelo Bergman, John Beverley, Robert Carr, Sara Castro-Klarén, Michael Clark, Beatriz González Stephan, Ranajit Guha, María Milagros López, Walter Mignolo, Alberto Moreiras, Abdul-Karim Mustapha, José Rabasa, Ileana Rodríguez, Josefina Saldaña-Portillo, Javier Sanjinés, C. Online Security for the Business Traveler Deborah Gonzalez 2014-08-23 Whether attending conferences, visiting clients, or going to sales meetings, travel is an unavoidable necessity for many businesspeople. Today's high-tech enabled businessperson travels with electronic devices such as smartphones, tablets, laptops, health sensors, and Google Glass. It is an essential reference guide for any travelling business person or security professional. Chapters are organized by travel stages for easy reference, including planning, departure, arrival, and returning home Touches on the latest technologies that today's business traveler is using Uses case studies to highlight specific security issues and identify areas for improved risk mitigation

Dancing the Tao Sandra J. Lindow 2012-11-15 Dancing the Tao: Le Guin and Moral Development takes an original approach to Ursula K. Le Guin's work – speculative fiction, poetry and children's literature – by considering her Taoist upbringing and then looking through the lens of moral development theorists such as Carol Gilligan and Mary Field Belenky, and psychologists such as Lenore Terr and Jennifer J. Freyd. It is the most comprehensive approach to Le Guin's moral thinking to date. A particular emphasis is put on Le Guin's depiction of physical and sexual child abuse and its long term aftereffects such as post traumatic stress disorder. The focus throughout the book is on how morality develops through self-awareness and voice, how moral decisions are made and how Le Guin challenges readers to reconsider their own moral thinking. This book covers all of Le Guin's major works such as The Left Hand of Darkness, The Dispossessed, the Earthsea Series, Always Coming Home, The Telling and Lavinia, and it also looks in depth at work that is rarely discussed such as Le Guin's early work, her poetry, and her picture books.

Apollo 1 Ryan S. Walters 2021-05-25 On January 27, 1967, astronauts Gus Grissom, Ed White, and Roger Chaffee climbed into a new spacecraft perched atop a large Saturn rocket at Kennedy Space Center in Florida for a routine dress rehearsal of their upcoming launch into orbit, then less than a month away. All three astronauts were experienced pilots and had dreams of one day walking on the moon. But little did they know, nor did anyone else, that once they entered the spacecraft that cold winter day they would never leave it alive. The Apollo program would be perilously close to failure before it ever got off the ground. But rather than dooming the space program, this tragedy caused the spacecraft to be completely overhauled, creating a stellar flying machine to achieve the program's primary goal: putting man on the moon. Apollo 1 is a candid portrayal of the astronauts, the disaster that killed them, and its aftermath. In it, readers will learn: How the Apollo 1 spacecraft was doomed from the start, with miles of uninsulated wiring and tons of flammable materials in a pure oxygen atmosphere, along with a hatch that wouldn't open. How, due to political pressure, the government contract to build the Apollo 1 craft went to a bidder with an inferior plan. How public opinion polls were beginning to turn against the space program before the tragedy and got much worse after Apollo 1. It's about America fulfilling its destiny of man setting foot on the moon. It's also about the three American heroes who lost their lives in the tragedy, but whose lives were not lost in vain.

Mime Musings Charles Cozart 2012-10-01 Having been raised in a small town in the Panhandle of Oklahoma, I had a very narrow vision of life and of the world. There were so many questions that I did not know that I needed to ask. I remember driving down the red brick paved main street wondering is this really all there is. So, I left. "Mime Musings" is a look into the search for and finding of a great big, colorful, magical world. These poems are part love, part revolution, part emotion served up with a heaping helping of mental madness. The illustrations are an attempt to capture the images that the words paint in line, space, and order. All the characters are real even the ones that have been created from bits and pieces of this person then the other. All who have come to live within the pages and verses of this book. "Mime Musings" is the findings that has resulted from a search for a vision of a world painted with the strokes of a very wide brush. "Mime Musings" begins with the poem "Lives and ends with the poem "Circles. Inbetween you will find alot of yourself within these verses and images that come off the pages of this book. It is possible, that you will recall visions from your own journey. And yes, the search continues. Enjoy!!!
